People are the Heart of [REDACTED].

[REDACTED] knows we work best when we serve others, from our employees to our community.

We believe that time spent with loved ones is vital and that preparing Thanksgiving meals together is a time that should be cherished. One of the ways that [REDACTED] serves the children in our community is by providing a Thanksgiving meal. Not only does the Thanksgiving meal fill a basic necessity for families in need but it also enables children to make priceless memories surrounded by people they love.

Reaching Our Community with My Friends and Me

In 2013, the non-profit, My Friends and Me, was formed. Working with guidance counselors at local school districts, [REDACTED] and My Friends and Me was able to identify families that were in need of a Thanksgiving meal and anonymously provide the supplies for an entire meal. While we started by providing Thanksgiving meals for 80 families through the local schools, we now provide 1,500 Thanksgiving meals each year for families who otherwise might not be able to afford this special meal.

Through My Friends and Me, [REDACTED] is not only able to serve outward to the children in our community but we also reach inward. The majority of all contributions that assist with supplies are made by clients, vendors, suppliers, and other corporations that have a long history of working with [REDACTED].

Whether it's moving tons of soil across a worksite, helping employees reach personal goals or providing for children and their families in our community, [REDACTED] works hard to serve others.

Fulfilling Our Promise to Commitment

The [REDACTED] family looks forward to gathering together each year to assemble Thanksgiving meals through My Friends and Me. Our promise to commitment doesn't stop there. Throughout the year we also serve in other ways, either by volunteer work or through monetary donations. A few of the companies with which we join to serve our community and others are:
